TIRED OUT!

At this season nearly every one needs to use some sort of tonic. IRON enters into almost every physician's prescription for those who need building up.

For Weakness, Lassitude, Lack of Energy, etc., it has no equal, and is the only iron medicine that is not injurious. It relieves the effects of a fever, and cures Systemic Rheumatism, Appetite, Aids Digestion.

It does not blacken or injure the teeth, cause headache or produce constipation—other iron medicines do.

Dr. G. H. BINKLEY, a leading physician of Springfield, Ohio, says:

"Brown's Iron Bitters is a thoroughly good medicine. I use it in practice, and find its action exceeds all other forms of iron. In weakness, or a low condition of the system, it is far superior to any other iron medicine. It is all that is claimed for it."

Dr. W. N. WATERS, 1319 Thirty-second Street, Georgetown, D. C., says: "Brown's Iron Bitters is the tonic of the age. Nothing better. It creates appetite, gives strength and improved digestion."

AN IMPORTANT MEETING.

OVER TWO HUNDRED ENGINEERS MEET IN EAST ST. LOUIS.

They Will Handle no Burlington Freight.

Mr. Martin Says the Burlington Has Nothing to Arbitrate—Brakemen Fear Accidents From Incompetency—Notes.

ST. LOUIS, March 13.—St. Clair Division No. 49, of the Brotherhood Engineers, who represent all the railroads centering in East St. Louis, held an important meeting yesterday. There were two hundred members present, and it was decided that after 6 o'clock Sunday night no member should haul a Chicago, Burlington & Quincy car, or any consignment of Burlington freight, on any of the connecting roads. The resolution is very emphatic, and if any Burlington car or freight is offered to any of the thirteen railroads terminating in East St. Louis, a strike will follow.

An incident occurred on the Missouri Pacific which illustrates the determination of the strikers. A car was switched in to a Missouri Pacific train at Chamois. The engineer did not discover the character of the car until Tiptop was reached; then he side-tracked the whole train and refused to move an inch.

The grievance committee of the Missouri Pacific has been in session all day at Sedalia, and it is rumored that trouble is coming. One engineer told a friend that it was probable that the Gould system would be tied in-side of a week.

Nothing to Arbitrate.

CHICAGO, March 13.—"There is nothing new to report," said Mr. Martin, Sunday evening. "In fact we have not been able to pay much attention to the strike to-day, our time being occupied in making preparations for the funeral of the late Mr. Potter, which, as you are aware, the Burlington officials are to act as pall-bearers."

"Any steps toward arbitration?" queried the reporter.

"Arbitration? There is nothing, in my knowledge, to arbitrate. Of the 800 places made vacant by the strike, we have already filled 425, and the only question to arbitrate in case of a surrender of the strikers would be which of them to take back. There are many of them we would be glad to see at their posts again and I don't hesitate saying so; but unless they come to us voluntarily and at our terms, we will continue filling their places with men from the east."

"Have you had any notification from the engineers on the Denver, Utah & Pacific road?"

"Only what I saw in the newspapers from which I should judge they have only just awakened to the fact that this road is part of the Burlington system. "As an item of news," continued Mr. Morton, "I may tell you that we expect to run the Burlington No. 1, which is the fast Denver mail, by Wednesday next. Of course it takes the new men some time to get acquainted with the road, but they are all fairly smart, intelligent men and are quickly adapting themselves to the new country they have run through. Without being over sanguine, I should say, we shall be in complete working order inside the next ten days or two weeks, at the furthest. Our new men all seem well satisfied with the change, and many of them have expressed themselves in my hearing as glad of the chance to come west."

As Hopeful as Ever.

CHICAGO, March 13.—The third week of the Burlington strike opened this morning, and according to Chief Arthur, the men are as buoyant and as sanguine of ultimate success as ever, all interest now points to the resumption of the legal proceedings in the United States court, and the outcome is awaited with impatience both by the railroad officials and the representatives of the Brotherhood.

Mr. Arthur repeated this morning what was stated in the United Press dispatches several days ago, that no action looking to a tie-up on any of the eastern roads would be taken until after Judge Gresham had decided the Wabash case. Even then he was hopeful that the strike would be confined to the Burlington, although he had absolutely no control over the various grievance committees with whom rests the power to call out the men.

These committees representing the Nickel Plate, Louisville, New Albany & Chicago, Grand Trunk, Michigan Central, Chicago & Atlantic and Baltimore & Ohio, will soon be here and will take up the question of carrying Burlington freight as soon as the text of the court's decision is before them.

The striking men are jubilant over the renewed endorsements from their brethren in New York and other cities, as well as over the action of the men at the St. Louis end in ceasing to handle Burlington freight. They claim that this is powerful lever in their favor.

Dull at Strikers' Headquarters.

CHICAGO, March 13.—There was nothing doing whatever at strikers' headquarters last evening. Chairman Hoge retired early and Mr. Arthur quietly kept to his room. A report that the St. Paul & Northwestern railway engineers and firemen in the vicinity of LaCrosse, Wis., were dissatisfied with the work of the grievance committee of their road, which met Saturday in this city, could not be verified.

It was also stated that the Northwestern people had decided to haul Burlington freight. Up to 10 p. m. nothing had been heard from the Topeka grievance committee, S. J. Farley, of the Santa Fe grievance committee, who is now in the city, was seen, but said that he thought the troubles would be satisfactorily arranged and no tie-up of that system would ensue.

General Superintendent Watts, of the Panhandle system was also seen. The trouble on his road, he says, is now averted and all danger of a strike is past. However, as a matter of precaution, his road had made preparations for possible emergency and a number of engineers are at their disposal until the storm has completely blown over.

Competent Men Ordered Put On.

CHICAGO, March 13.—The railroad commissioners have closed their investigation of the charges made by the citizens of Creston that the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad was at present employing incompetent engineers on its passenger and freight trains to the danger of the public. The commissioners have reported to the governor that they find the charges sustained by the evidence, and that they have ordered the railroad company to stop the employment of any but competent and experienced engineers to run trains. There is no change in the situation. The strikers remain firm and confident.

Brakemen Fear Being Blown Up.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 13.—Grand Master C. E. Wilkinson, of the Brotherhood of Brakemen, says that his organization will back the striking Brotherhood engineers by every possible means. The brakemen knew, he said, that the engineers now employed by the Burlington system were incompetent. They let the water run so low in the boilers that the brakemen were constrained to take refuge in the cabooses for fear of being blown up. They have in many instances reported this state of affairs to the officers of the roads.

SNOWSTORMS.

Business at a Standstill at Various Points in the East.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The hardest snow-storm of the year by far began early this morning, and at 8 o'clock was a foot or over on the ground. The high wind causes drifts which, in the upper part of this city, were three or four feet high. Traffic was almost suspended. Thousands of passengers were blocked on the elevated roads. Horse cars were entirely unable to move. People who left uptown by elevated roads were unable to get further than Eighth street by the road. Many of the more venturesome descended to the street by ladders and walked the rest of the way down town. People in suburban towns found it almost impossible to reach the city so severe were the drifts.

A Collision on the Elevated.

NEW YORK, March 13.—A train on the Third Avenue elevated ran into the rear of the train directly ahead of it, shortly after 7 o'clock this morning, at the Seventy-sixth street station. The rear car of the forward train partly telescoped the car preceding it. The engine of the rear train was wholly demolished. The passengers, as far as learned, escaped with only a few bruises. The blinding snowstorm which prevailed made it impossible to see any distance ahead. Hence the accident. The engineer, who was instantly killed, was Samuel Towle, of Ninety-sixth street and Lexington avenue. The fireman, Martin Byrne, escaped in a most miraculous manner. Traffic was entirely suspended up to noon.

A Two Days' Blizzard.

NEGAUNEE, Mich., March 13.—The two days' blizzard just ended has been the worst of the year for railroad men. The Chicago & Northwestern train, due here at 1 o'clock yesterday, left Escanaba at 3:15 and got stuck at Mason. It is still there in the drifts, with the engine dead. The south bound train is at Brampton, having been shovelled out two or three times. On the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, the Houghton division train pulled through, but the Mackinaw division is closed to traffic, with the west bound express and the snow plows all snowed in on the eastern half of the division. No east bound trains were started from Marquette Sunday.

A Wreck at Poughkeepsie.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., March 13.—In a blinding snow storm, about 8 o'clock this morning, the Atlantic express bound south on the Hudson River railway, crashed into the rear of another Atlantic express at Dobbs' Ferry, demolishing three cars. Four persons, one known to have been badly injured, but particulars are lacking. Both tracks are obstructed. All southbound trains are held at Tarrytown. The snow storm prevailing here is the heaviest in several years. Between twelve and eighteen inches of snow has fallen. All trains on both roads are much behind.

No Signs of Abating.

TROY, N. Y., March 13.—The storm shows no sign of abating. The snowfall is as great as at any time and the wind appears to be increasing in force. All trains are delayed. Troy is cut off from communication with Cohoes only three miles distant. Trains run irregularly on the belt line between this city and Albany. No mail from New York has yet arrived, and it is said there are drifts on the road twenty feet deep.

Drifts Delay Trains.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., March 13.—The severest snow storm of the winter is prevailing throughout this vicinity to-day. About a foot of snow has fallen, and it is drifting madly. Trains on all the roads are much delayed. Business here is partly suspended. Street cars are drawn by from four to six horses and are running irregularly.

The Worst in Years.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The most terrific snow storm in years prevails along the lower Hudson. Travel is entirely suspended in some parts of Rockland county. Trains are detained by huge drifts fifteen to twenty feet deep in some places. The mountain roads are impassable.

Stuck in Drifts.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 13.—At 11 o'clock this morning no trains had arrived from New York, and the mail and newspaper trains are stuck just below Bridgeport in a heavy snow drift. The storm is very severe, and the railroads and telegraph lines have suffered much.

On the Other Side.

LONDON, March 13.—A fierce southwest gale is blowing and numerous casualties are feared in the St. George's and English channels.

A Pullman Wreck.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 13.—A collision between the second section of passenger train No. 9, west bound, and an east bound freight train occurred near Huntington, Pa., on the Pennsylvania railroad, about 3 a. m. Engineer Gardner and Fireman Murray, of the passenger train, were instantly killed, a brakeman was seriously hurt and one passenger bruised.

McAuliffe and Meyers Matched.

NIAGARA, Ont., March 13.—Richard Roche has posted $500 as a forfeit for a match between Johnny McAuliffe and Billy Meyers, of Streator, Ill., to be fought in June, Queensbury rules. Mr. Roche backs McAuliffe for $5,000.

MR. RANDALL EXPLAINS IT

HE IS INTERVIEWED REGARDING HIS TARIFF BILL.

It Repeals All Tax on Tobacco and Fruit Brandies—Also License Tax on Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers—Whisky Tax to Be Reduced—Other Points.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—In an interview with United Press reporter, Mr. Randall made the following explanation concerning the bill which he has introduced in the house. The bill repeals the entire internal revenue tax on tobacco, and on fruit brandies. It also repeals the license tax on wholesale and retail liquor dealers, leaving these as recommended by Jefferson, so that the state authorities might adopt them. It makes alcohol used in the arts free and reduces the tax on whisky to fifty cents per gallon. On the tariff the bill is a careful and complete revision of the whole tariff system.

It carries to the free list a large number of articles now paying duties and which enter consumption, either as raw material or otherwise, and in the production of which there is no injurious competition between this and other countries. In the revision of the tariff the aim has been intelligently to apply consistent principles to all branches of industry, and in so doing our industrial system has been considered as a whole, and differing from other industrial systems in the important fact that the labor in this country receives a large share of the annual products of labor and capital combined, than in any other country.

This important advantage to the labor interests of the United States the bill aims to preserve throughout, while at the same time, "in fairness to all interests," as stated in the Chicago platform, to reduce and equalize the duties on imports.

The principles applied to the revision of the tariff in this bill are, first, that the difference in cost of producing commodities in this and other countries, where there is no climate or other natural causes why they cannot be produced abundantly in this country has been studied and everywhere adhered to, as the cardinal principle to be enforced in any revision of the tariff.

In such a scheme all industries, of course, should stand on an equal footing, and in no instances should the powers of government be used to elevate one above another. In other words, our industrial system must be considered as a whole in which all who participate in it, share its benefits whether they are engaged in one industry or in another.

One principle of great importance has been kept constantly in view, and that is that the line which marks the difference in cost of producing commodities here and abroad; in other words, the line of fair competition is always and necessarily above the point of maximum revenues. Consequently to reduce the duties on any commodity below the line of difference in cost, which, as stated, is the line of even competition, until the line of maximum revenue is passed, necessarily increases the revenues. On the contrary, to raise duties from the line of maximum revenue, by lessening importations, reduces the revenues. This principle has been kept in view throughout the bill in the adjustment of duties.

To determine where the line of difference in cost falls, is of course, in many instances, difficult, but it may be safely assured, when important legislation in any line of commodities is large and increasing, and no good reason appearing why he thinks cannot as well be produced here, that such duties are below the cost line, and that the advantage is with the foreign producers. If production in the same line is diminished or suspended altogether in this country, it becomes proof positive that the advantage is too great to be overcome without a readjustment of duties.

In such cases embracing, however, but a few articles—there has been no hesitancy in preparing this bill, to raise duties, so as to permit these industries to take their place abreast with others in the country.

THE STEWART ESTATE.

A Legal Battle Soon to Begin Over It in New York.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The big contest over Mrs. A. T. Stewart's millions will be resumed this afternoon before the surrogate. It will continue on Tuesday and Wednesday, and then there will be an adjournment until next week, when it will go right along for ten days. The array of counsel retained in the case is a formidable one. Roscoe Conkling represents Judge Hilton, executor of the estate, and with him is associated ex-Attorney General Leslie W. Russell. The trustees of the Garden City cathedral have engaged ex-Judge Jasper W. Gilbert, while ex-Judge Horace Russell looks after the case of Executor Charles J. Clinch.

The interests of the petitioner, Miss Rosalie Butler, are in the hands of Joseph H. Choate, while other parties interested are likely to be abundantly looked after by lawyers Martin & Smith, Shipman, Barlow, Larocque & Choate, Thomas G. Shearman and Pinney & Sterling. The documents filed in the case will fill a couple of good sized chests, and altogether the surrogate has on hand the most formidable job of his term of office.

A Fight With Stilettos.

CHICAGO, March 13.—Last evening two Italian laborers attacked a third with whom they had quarreled in the hallway of a basement at No. 15 North Halsted street, and a desperate fight with stilettos ensued. Fernando Padulo, of No. 134 North Halsted street, who was attacked by the other two, will die. He was stabbed four times in the back and side. Petro Allegretto, of No. 75 Tilden avenue, who first drew the stiletto, is at the county hospital in a serious condition, but may recover. Marco De Steffano, who was Allegretto's comrade, is stabbed in the stomach, and will probably die.

The Dominion Speaker Dead.

NIAGARA, Ont., March 13.—Hon. J. B. Plumb, speaker of the Dominion senate, died suddenly here this morning. He arrived here on Saturday evening from Ottawa to spend Sunday at his home, intending to return to-day. Mr. Plumb was a native of New York state but removed to Niagara.

McAllister, T. I., March 13.

A terrible accident occurred at Kavanagh, in the Choctaw nation, Saturday, the boiler in Tucker's saw mill exploding and killing a boy instantly, while ten men were injured so severely that their recovery is doubtful.

HENRY BERGH DEAD.

The Friend of Dumb Brutes and Children Dies in New York.

NEW YORK, March 13.—Henry Bergh, the philanthropist, died this morning.

When James Buchanan was president of the United States Henry Bergh was appointed secretary of the American legation at St. Petersburg. It was in this far-off Russian city that the movement for the suppression of cruelty to animals began. It was not the humanity, but the cruelty, which excited there that suggested to Mr. Bergh his future work. As he used to drive through the principal streets of St. Petersburg he was filled with horror at the cruelty to horses which he saw about him. On many occasions he would stop his own carriage and exhort with some brutal driver. His interference was generally successful.

The Russian drivers would be terrified when they saw a carriage of state stop; and received a sharp reprimand from the uniformed representative of a great government. This absurd Russian awe of government authority enabled Mr. Bergh to carry on his humane work without the assistance of any law or organization.

In 1866 Mr. Bergh returned to New York. He was a gentleman of property and leisure, and he determined to devote himself to defending the rights of animals. He called a meeting of those in sympathy with him, and secured the financial backing of several men of wealth. One of these, Mr. Elbridge Gerry, gave not only his financial support, but his moral and political support, becoming an ardent advocate of Mr. Bergh's plans. Through his influence bills were carried through the legislature, making wanton cruelty to animals a punishable offense.

For a while the society which was organized worked on in obscurity, but before the year was over an event occurred which made it one of the best-known institutions in the city.

A cargo of turtles had been landed upon the docks, and the turtles made fast by being turned upon their backs and having spikes driven through their flippers. Mr. Bergh ordered the arrest of the captain and the entire crew.

ROBERT LINCOLN has written a letter in which he informs the Republican party that his "interest in public affairs will never again be official." Sherman and Foraker, however, are still in the ring.

THE Frankfort correspondent of the Louisville Commercial says: "Since prohibition is in effect at Harrodsburg, the revenue has run out and the Legislature is asked to open a way to allow an increase."

WITH nearly $1,000,000 on deposit in our three banks subject to check, it looks like it ought to be an easy matter to secure $40,000 for a tobacco factory. Such factories succeed elsewhere, and could be made profitable here in Maysville. Shall an enterprise like this knock at our door and be turned away?

SPEAKING of a tobacco factory which Cynthiana didn't get, but which will probably go to Owenton, the Cynthiana Times says, and its remarks will apply very forcibly to the people of Maysville:

"This is the firm we referred to two weeks ago. Cynthiana ought to have gotten it. But we never will get anything worth having unless our citizens go to work and try to make something out of the place."

LOUISVILLE'S growth last year shows a very gratifying state of affairs at Kentucky's metropolis. During the year seventy-five new manufacturing enterprises were established in the "Falls City," employing 1,621 hands and $1,290,500 of capital. Nearly all of these will enlarge their capacity this year, and some of the most important enterprises set on foot last year were not counted because they will begin operations in 1888.

MR. GEO. P. ROWELL, of New York, who is authority on such matters, in an address before the American Newspaper Publisher's Association at Indianapolis, proved that five newspapers issued more than one-seventh of the total edition of all the daily papers printed. The daily newspapers in the United States now number about fourteen hundred, consequently the five which were referred to, Mr. Rowell says, must each sell an average edition two hundred times greater than the average of the others.

SENATOR BLACKBURN's reply to Senator Ingalls was not impressive. The importance of the part taken by Senator Ingalls in the war is not important.—Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette.

BAT THE "importance" of the part taken in the war by General Hancock and General McClellan, whom Ingalls went out of his way to villify and abuse, was "important," as the Kansas Senator has very recently been taught. Senator Blackburn's speech may not have been very "impressive," but it has stirred up a warm and enthusiastic response in the hearts of the Union veterans throughout the country.

A Bishop on Drinking.

The following from an article contributed by Bishop Spalding to the Forum has attracted widespread attention, coming as it does, from such eminent ecclesiastical authority:

"With clamorous and persistent emphasis it is urged from many sides that drunkenness threatens the ruin of our institutions. It not unfrequently happens that men are most vociferous in denouncing abuses when the evil has begun to disappear, just as soldiers often make the greatest show of courage when the enemy have turned their backs. Whether or not Gladstone's dictum that alcohol is a greater scourge than war, pestilence and famine combined be mere rhetoric, it can not be shown that any Nation or people has been destroyed by intoxicating drink. The English have been and are a Nation of drinkers, and they are the predominant race of the world."

"I have no knowledge of a population of total abstainers who have ever enjoyed civil and political liberty; and though I will not say with an English prelate that it is better to be free than to be sober, yet I will say that the methods of dealing with sin in general are the proper methods for counteracting the evil of drunkenness, and that it is absurd to attempt to persuade the American people that the permanence of their institutions depends on their becoming a nation of total abstainers. It is a law of human nature that excessive pressure brought to bear on any special form of moral evil results in other evils; and now, when various influences are diminishing temperance in America, there seems to be no sufficient reason for calling upon the State to prohibit the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquor. The less we bring the Government into our private, personal and domestic affairs the freer and the happier shall we be."

Vaught, pastor, called on one of the young gentlemen students of the Kentucky Wesleyan College, who is studying for the ministry, to pray, and he knelt down within about six feet of where Miss Jones sat, and prayed that God might convert her; that her father was running all over the Union preaching, while his daughter was going to hell as fast as she could go. Miss Jones' black eyes flashed fire, but she held her place until after church, when she remarked that she would go home—she wouldn't remain any longer in a town where ladies could be insulted in that style.

A Broken Arm and a Broken Leg.

Willie Strode, the thirteen-year-old son of Samuel Strode of Lewisburg, fell from Richard Gaither's haymow through a hayrack into a trough, last Sunday afternoon, breaking his left arm at the elbow and cutting a very ugly gash over one of his eyes, which necessitated the taking of several stitches to close. The fates seem to be against the little fellow. He has had his arms and legs broken no less than five or six different times. He was getting along very well at last accounts. He was suffering considerably, however, from a pain in his side, and it is thought one of his ribs was broken in addition to his other injuries.

An accident very similar to the one above mentioned happened yesterday afternoon to little Samuel Masterson, who lives at Clarke's Station on the K. C. R. R. He fell from the hayloft and broke his leg above the knee. Dr. Dobyns, of Lewisburg, was called to set the fracture. The little fellow is about eight years old, and is a son of the late John R. Masterson.

R. during the State Department meeting in this city next month.

THE "tea merchants" who seek to gull people with lottery schemes will undoubtedly give the capital of Fayette a wide berth hereafter. One of them, T. W. Pickett, of Hartford, Conn., opened out a few days ago at Lexington, and judging from his advertisement he had a surplus of diamonds and gold watches which he intended giving away in the cause of tea. Pickett now languishes behind the bars in default of $2,000 bail, to answer the charge of carrying on a lottery without license.

OWENS & BARKLEY call the attention of the farmers to the fact that they have the agency for the sale of the celebrated Ross cutters, both hand and power, also lever cutters, which will be sold for less money than they can be bought anywhere else. They have a large stock of "O & B." and Haven's roller and lever cutters at very low prices. Full stock of hoes, rakes, forks, shovels, picks, mattocks, &c., &c. They invite all interested in such goods to call and see them and get prices. Having sold about three hundred plows, they have a few left at low prices.

CHARLTONBURG CASTLE

FREDERICK III ARRIVES THERE WITHOUT MISHAP.

No Bad Effects of the Trip Noticeable. The Anglo-Germanic Element Rejoice. Preparations for the Late Emperor's Funeral—The Czar Looks Warlike.

LONDON, March 13.—The arrival of the Emperor Frederick III at the castle of Charltonburg has covered the prophets of dire calamity, as the result of his undertaking the journey from San Remo to Berlin, with confusion, and given the Anglo-Germanic party, those who are foremost in rejoicing that Princess Victoria has attained to the title and position of empress, strong reason to believe that the new emperor will gradually recover from his malady, under the reactionary influences of his exaltation.

These persons are of course adherents to the belief that the successor to the throne of William I, is not affected with an incurable disease, but is rather the victim of the jealousy existing among his German physicians of their English colleagues. This is at least a cold-blooded and even brutal belief, but it is not confined to the lay partisans of Dr. Mackenzie by any means. Many of his professional brethren in London are of the same opinion, and sooner or later there must be a rupture, which will result in settling the question beyond all doubt, whether the erstwhile, the crown prince, now emperor, shall be treated by Dr. Mackenzie, and whomsoever he may choose to assist him for a curable malady, or that the doctor selected at the instigation of the new empress, shall return to London and her husband shall be subjected to the drastic, though useless treatment, which the German doctors would, according to their theories, administer despite the fact of their pronouncing the patient's malady fatal.

Whether from motives of policy or from a conscientious belief in Dr. Mackenzie's theories, however, there is one German physician who possesses confidence in the Englishman's methods, and that is Dr. Hovell. Something akin to a feeling of friendship has sprang up between the two men, and if Dr. Mackenzie is retained as the chief physician to the emperor, Dr. Hovell will infallibly be his associate.

Dispatches received from Berlin this morning represent the condition of the emperor as no worse than when he took his departure from San Remo. Notwithstanding his exposure to air currents, the driving snow-storm which prevailed at the time of his arrival, the fatigue incident to his journey and the excitement natural to his return to the capital under the circumstances which made his return imperative, he rested much better than the most sanguine of his attendants expected.

The question has arisen whether the landtag should accept the written oath of the new emperor instead of the oral declaration required by the language of the constitution.

Deputations of all the regiments gathered about the monument to Frederick the Great Sunday and swore fidelity to the King and Emperor Frederick III.

Funeral Preparation.

BERLIN, March 13.—Last night the remains of the emperor were transferred to the cathedral. The whole route was lined with silent crowds. The throng was so dense that the police and military, with torches, had difficulty in affecting a passage. The cathedral bells began to toll at midnight, when Emperor Frederick arrived to visit the remains. Upon the arrival of the procession at the cathedral the tolling of the bells ceased and the crowd silently dispersed.

The autopsy on the body of the late emperor, which was performed by Professor Hartmann, assisted by Dr. Thiemann, Dr. Lauer and Dr. Leuthold, disclosed a calculus as large as a pigeon's egg.

The late emperor's will has been opened. It directs that his body shall be interred dressed in field uniform, with a gray military cloak over the shoulders and a field cap on the head. Upon the body are to be placed the decorations of the Order of the Black Eagle and Iron Cross, second class, the cross of the Russian Order of St. George, the war medals of 1814, 1864, 1866 and 1870, and the Hohenzollern medal of 1849.

Windrows along the route which will be taken by the funeral procession are being rented at fabulous prices.

The Russian Army Will Wear Mourning. ST. PETERSBURG, March 13.—The Official Messenger and the Invalid Russe publish articles, with mourning borders, paying moral tributes to the memory of the deceased monarch.

The whole army, by special order of the czar, will wear mourning for four weeks, and the regiments of which the dead emperor was honorary colonel for five weeks. On the day of the funeral the whole army will wear full mourning, and the use of Dennis bugles will be prohibited. The Kaluga regiment will continue to bear that name. Its vacant honor colonelcy has been conferred upon Emperor Frederick, who has also been appointed titular commander of the St. Petersburg regiment of grenadiers.

The Sportsman's Opinion.

LONDON, March 13.—The Sportsman expresses the opinion that Sullivan excels to a greater degree as a glove fighter on a board stage, and bases its judgment on the fact that after his eighth round with Mitchell he ceased to be agile. The weather and theague undoubtedly affected him, but still when the fight was ended John L. was as good as his master.

Sullivan and Mitchell both have arrived in the city, the former leaving at once for Liverpool. Neither of the men showed much sign of the punishment which they had received, and were looking tolerably fresh. The admirers of Mitchell are feeling very jubilant over the result, and are indulging in considerable crowry.

The Czar Smiles Yet Looks Warlike. ODESSA, March 13.—The authorities of the railroads centering at Kieff have received orders from St. Petersburg to hold all available trucks for the disposal of the government. Large bodies of troops will move to the southwest frontier upon the breaking up of the severe weather.

Special Services at Windsor.

LONDON, March 13.—Special services were held in St. George's chapel at Windsor Sunday as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Emperor of Germany as a Knight of the Garter.

Tennessee Fruit in Danger.

CHATANOOGA, March 13.—A high wind is blowing here and the ground is freezing quite hard. The peach trees are almost in bloom. It is feared the fruit will be killed. The weather is growing colder every hour.
